Thomas Alexander Williams

Tom was born on the Williams farm. It was an 100 acre plot located on the SW corner of Hwy C and Fahrni Road. The land is about 3 miles due west of the town of Russellville, MO. Per the 1940 census, he completed two years of high school. I do not know the names of the schools that he attended. Tom was born on 27 Aug 1880 to William E Williams and Lucy Ellen Stone. In the mid 1890's the family had to leave the farm and move to Jefferson City as his father had tuberculosis. His father died in 1900. His sister, Olive died from tuberculosis a few years later. Shortly after Olive's death the family (his mother and two brothers) moved to Hannibal, MO. He worked for Star Shoe Co in Hannibal. Around 191- he moved to Mexico, MO and was working for the Shoe factory there. He married Anna Elizabeth (Elsie) Corder on 7 April 1910 in Mexico MO in St. Brendan's Church. On June 13, 1913 a son, William Warner was born to them. Elsie and her sister worked for Crown Linen in Mexico. It was run by William Warner Williams (he died around 1910, no relation). The family moved to Quincy shortly after the birth of their son. Tom worked for Morris Brothers Shoe Factory in Quincy which was bought by International Shoe and is now part of Brown Shoe. Tom worked for the shoe factory until he retired. He died on 27 Dec 1958 in Quincy. He is buried in Calvary Cemetery in Quincy.

Fidelio Green Williams

Fidelio was born in either Graves or Christian County Kentucky to Thomas Simpson Williams and Alaphar Green. He was born on 10 Jan 1828. His father had left for Perry County, Illinois the previous Fall. He never returned. Alaphar and her parents left Christian county either shortly before or after Fidelio's birth. They moved to a farm near the town of Wingo. In the early 1840's the Green family and Fidelio moved to a farm near Hickory Hill, Missouri. In the 1850 census he is living with his uncle William E Green and his mother and grandmother. On 26 Dec 1854 he married Judith T Bennett in Moniteau County, Missouri. They bought a farm from William E Green and raised their children on it. The farm was located on the Southwest corner of Hwy C & Fahrni Road about 3 miles due west of Russellville, MO. During the Civil War, Fidelio served in the 42nd & 43rd EMM (home guard). Judith and Fidelio divorced on 23 Aug 1877. Judith married Henry M Cornell on 3 Sep 1877. Henry was a widower who owned property due north of the Williams farm. Fidelio married Sarah Alifar Russell on 15 Sep 1878 in Cole County. Sarah was the daughter of Henry Russell and Louisa Green. Louisa was a sister to Alaphar. She was Fidelio's aunt. Fidelio died on 14 Jun 1895 in Cole County, Missouri. He is buried in Enloe Cemetery which is about two miles east from the family farm.

Note: After the death of Simpson Williams. Fidelio sued the estate for his portion of the estate. He won and was awarded a portion of the estate.

Thomas Simpson Williams

Simpson was born in Edgefield County, SC on 6 Aug 1806 to William Williams and Martha Ann "Polly" Wells. Shortly after his birth the family moved to Christian County, KY. They originally were going to farm in Perry County, IL but the Indians were not friendly there. The family was familiar with the area as they had hunted in IL and KY when they lived in SC. The farm was about 10 miles north of Hopkinsville, KY. Simpson "married" Alaphar Green in 1827. No marriage record has been found. The Greens had a farm near the Williams farm. In the fall of 1827, Simpson and his 7 brothers left for Perry County, IL. They had land near the town of Tamaroa, IL. Simpson never did return to Christian County nor to Alaphar and his son, Fidelio. On 10 Mar 1833, Simpson married Margery Dixon in Perry County, IL. He died on 27 Jul 1837 in Perry County, IL. His burial spot is unknown.

William Williams

William was born to Frederick William Williams and Annah Bryant on 15 Apr 1774 in Edgefield County, SC. He married Martha Ann "Polly" Wells on 21 Oct 1802 in SC. They lived in either Edgefield or Greenville County, SC. They moved from there around 1807 to a farm in Christian County, KY. The farm was about 10 miles north of Hopkinsville, KY. Polly's parents had also moved to the area. Originally both families had intended on farming in IL but Indian trouble kept them out of the IL. In the fall of 1827, all of his sons moved to Perry County, IL. He had several land grants in the area. In the early 1830's, Polly and two daughters left for Perry County. Polly's parents had moved to the area earlier. None of the family ever returned to Christian County. William continued to farm in the area. After the death of his eldest son, Simpson, Margery, her son, and daughter moved from Perry County to live with William. Margery was living with him when he died on 8 May 1860. William is buried in Old Petersburg Cemetery which is near his farm.
